

Conclusion

Well after that ever long wait at LA we did board the A380 for the trip home. I got my window seat to settle into and relax. The aircraft worked, all my controls worked so I had a good last long trip home.

Touched down in Melbourne and there was quite a queue to get through customs, but eventually I got through to meet Paul Gillard who picked me up and took me home.

Well that's it really. All the posted stuff turned up and I have them. Unfortunately the glass survived all the trip but was shattered in March 2013. Have not watched any of the DVD's yet. But it is all there, my moments of the trip.

It was an experience never to be repeated I was so happy to do it and get through it despite any issues, be it medical etc. dealt to me before or during the trip.
